Joan the Goat

Once there was a goat called Joan who lived near a castle. Joan wore a red coat and had a yellow boat. One day Joan went to float her boat on the moat around the castle. Suddenly, a snowstorm came and froze the moat. Joan was unhappy and went back home. She called her friend Kate and moaned, "The moat is frozen solid and I want to float my yellow boat on it!"

Kate told her to wait for the pond to thaw. So Joan waited until the next day when the sun shone brightly. The ice melted and turned into water again. So Joan put her yellow boat on the moat and it floated. She told Kate to get her coat and to come see her boat floating on the moat.
