

Name: _____

Topic: Castles and Dragons

MF: Prefix dis- and mis-

Read through the text below and circle the correct spelling

As Hiccup crept through the tunnel, he took extra special care not to trip over any loose rocks. If he were to (misplace/displace) his footing and fall, the noise might be enough to wake the entire dragon population.

The young Viking squinted his eyes forward, eager to (miscover / discover) the infamous cavern where the dragons lived. Slowly but surely the group moved onwards, nearing the heart of the cliff – luckily Hiccup wasn't afraid of the dark. Whilst Hiccup didn't have a strong (mislike / dislike) for training dragons, he knew from his research that they had a tendency for (misbehaviour / disbehaviour) before being fully trained. They were cunning characters that tended to (misobey / disobey) even the most straight-forward of orders, especially the pug-ugly Gronckle.

Little Hiccup took a deep breath. It was going to take concentration and no (distakes / mistakes) to catch a worthwhile dragon. He could feel the tunnel air becoming cooler as he walked through the cave. The dragons were getting close, he could feel it in his small Viking bones. The thought of several hundred dragons around any possible corner brought an air of (miscomfort / discomfort) and he could feel his small hands begin to tremble. If Hiccup had the (misfortune / disfortune) of bumping into any dragons, he'd better be ready...

Sort the correct spellings into these two groups

Suffix mis-

---

---

---

---

Suffix dis-

---

---

---

---

Name: _____

Topic: Castles and Dragons

MF: Prefix dis- and mis-

Read through the text below and circle the correct spelling

As Hiccup crept through the tunnel, he took extra special care not to trip over any loose rocks. If he were to (misplace / displace / misplase) his footing and fall, the noise might be enough to wake the entire dragon population.

The young Viking squinted his eyes forward, eager to (discuver / miscover / discover) the infamous cavern where the dragons lived – luckily Hiccup wasn't afraid of the dark. Whilst Hiccup didn't have a strong (mislike / dislike / dislic) for training dragons, he knew from his research that they had a tendency for (misbehaviour / disbehaviour / misbehayviour) before being fully trained. They were cunning characters that tended to (misobey / disobey / disobay) even the most straight-forward of orders, especially the pug-ugly Gronckle.

Little Hiccup took a deep breath. It was going to take concentration and no (distakes / mistakes / mistayks) to catch a worthwhile dragon. He knew they were getting close, he could feel it in his small Viking bones. The thought of several hundred dragons around any possible corner brought an air of (miscomfort / discomfort / discomfurt) and he could feel his small hands begin to tremble. If Hiccup had the (misfortune / disfortune / misfurtune) of bumping into any dragons, he'd better be ready...

Sort the correct spellings into these two groups

Suffix mis-

---

---

---

---

Suffix dis-

---

---

---

---

Name: _____

Topic: Castles and Dragons

MF: Prefix dis- and mis-

'mis-' or 'dis-'? - Circle the correct spelling for these words

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 1. (misplace / displace / misplase)              | 5. (misobey / disobey / disobay)          |
| 2. (discuver / miscover / discover)              | 6. (miscomfort / discomfort / discomfurt) |
| 3. (misbehaviour / disbehaviour / misbehayviour) | 7. (mislike / dislike / dislic)           |
| 4. (misfortune / disfortune / misfurniture)      | 8. (distakes / mistakes / mistayks)       |

Read through the text below and fill in the missing words

As Hiccup crept through the tunnel, he took extra special care not to trip over any loose rocks. If he were to _____ his footing and fall, the noise might be enough to wake the entire dragon population.

The young Viking squinted his eyes forward, eager to _____ the infamous cavern where the dragons lived – luckily Hiccup wasn't afraid of the dark. Whilst Hiccup didn't have a strong _____ for training dragons, he knew from his research that they had a tendency for _____ before being fully trained. They were cunning characters that tended to _____ even the most straight-forward of orders, especially the pug-ugly Gronckle.

Little Hiccup took a deep breath. It was going to take concentration and no _____ to catch a worthwhile dragon. He knew they were getting close, he could feel it in his small Viking bones. The thought of several hundred dragons around any possible corner brought an air of _____ and he could feel his small hands begin to tremble. If Hiccup had the _____ of bumping into any dragons, he'd better be ready...

Name: _____

Topic: Castles and Dragons

MF: Prefix dis- and mis-

Your teacher is going to read out the passage below. Fill in the missing words.

As Hiccup crept through the tunnel, he took extra special care not to trip over any loose rocks. If he were to _____ his footing and fall, the noise might be enough to wake the entire dragon population.

The young Viking squinted his eyes forward, eager to _____ the infamous cavern where the dragons lived – luckily Hiccup wasn't afraid of the dark. Whilst Hiccup didn't have a strong _____ for training dragons, he knew from his research that they had a tendency for _____ before being fully trained. They were cunning characters that tended to _____ even the most straightforward of orders, especially the pug-ugly Gronckle.

Little Hiccup took a deep breath. It was going to take concentration and no _____ to catch a worthwhile dragon. He knew they were getting close, he could feel it in his small Viking bones. The thought of several hundred dragons around any possible corner brought an air of _____ and he could feel his small hands begin to tremble. If Hiccup had the _____ of bumping into any dragons, he'd better be ready...

